KATYA CORDOVA

CREATIVE DESIGNER

Katia Cordova, Creative Designer, is characterized by designing authentic pieces of different textures, which she integrates and sets in spaces, providing color and warmth, preserving cultural identity and exposing her creative versatility, fusing regional and contemporary style.

She was born in Nicaragua, a country full of natural wealth and culture that are part of her life, inspiration, and her passion for design, archeology and creativity. She uses authentic materials and studies textures and materials such as wood, leather, metal, natural fibers, cotton threads, stone and glass.

Her passion for design has allowed her to successfully position herself in projects such as Mukul Beach Resort Golf & Spa, Nekupe Resort, Residence in Guacalito de la Isla, exporting to stores like Restoration Hardware, Anthropologie, and collaborating in interior design projects on the Pacific coast of Nicaragua, working with renowned local and international architects and interior designers.

Katia has been the Creative Director to her own design and manufacturing workshop for more than 12 years. Its mission is to generate employment and demonstrate Nicaraguan talent, raising it to the highest quality standards to achieve contemporary pieces that complement any space.

A percentage of the proceeds from DCO are donated to the Dennis Martinez School, which provides education to native children of Isla Zapatera. She is also committed with environmental sustainability and has reforested more than five thousand trees on the Zapatera and Jesus Grande islands in Granada.
